5. What is a cookie?

Cookies are files or text files that contain small amounts of information that are downloaded and saved on the user's device, through their browser, when visiting a web page.

Cookies can be categorized according to the purpose they serve. There are cookies that are strictly necessary for the functioning of the website, while others collect statistical information in order to analyze the use of the website and its performance or are used to ensure the availability of additional features to the website or to save the visitor's preferences regarding navigation on it, whenever you use the same device. Other cookies can also be used to measure the success of applications and the effectiveness of third-party advertising.

Cookies are essential for the functioning of the Internet; they do not damage the user's equipment or device and, if they are activated in the configuration of your browser, they help to identify and resolve possible errors in the operation of the website.

6. Cookies used and respective functionalities

Below you will see a list of the different types of cookies that may be used on the doDOC website. To the extent any Personal Information is collected through cookies, the Privacy Policy applies and compliments this Cookies Policy.

Cookie Type	Who Serves the Cookie?	Cookie Information and Management
Targeting and Advertising	We and our Service Providers use tracking pixels and scripts sometimes called “advertising cookies” to provide our users and website visitors with more relevant content. Targeting cookies also help doDOC measure the effectiveness of our marketing campaigns.
	LinkedInAds	LinkedIn Ads helps us track how users interact with doDOC and enables us to target ads on LinkedIn. More information about LinkedIn Ads cookies can be found here .
	Facebook Pixel	Facebook Pixel helps us track how users interact with the doDOC and enables us to target ads on Facebook. More information about Facebook Pixel can be found here .
Analytics	Analytics cookies collect information about our website usage and enable us to improve the way it works.

7. Manage Cookies

You may choose to refuse or accept cookies from the doDOC website at any time by changing your browser's settings. Information about the procedure can be found on your browser provider's website or via the help screen of your browser.

For more information about managing cookies, you may want to refer to All About Cookies. Please be aware that if cookies are disabled, not all features of the doDOC website may work as intended.

8. “Do not track” functionality

"Do-not-track" is a feature that allows visitors to not be tracked by websites and is available on most browsers, including Firefox, Internet Explorer, Chrome, Safari, Opera.
